

Are You Headed for an Energy Crisis?

Please check the statements below that are true for you.

Body

I don't regularly get at least seven to eight hours of sleep, and I often wake up feeling tired.

I frequently skip breakfast, or I settle for something that isn't nutritious.

I don't work out enough (meaning cardiovascular training at least three times a week and strength training at least once a week).

I don't take regular breaks during the day to truly renew and recharge, or I often eat lunch at my desk, if I eat it at all.

Emotions

I frequently find myself feeling irritable, impatient, or anxious at work, especially when work is demanding.

I don't have enough time with my family and loved ones, and when I'm with them, I'm not always really with them.

I have too little time for the activities that I most deeply enjoy.

I don't stop frequently enough to express my appreciation to others or to savor my accomplishments and blessings.

Mind

I have difficulty focusing on one thing at a time, and I am easily distracted during the day, especially by e-mail.

I spend much of my day reacting to immediate crises and demands rather than focusing on activities with longer-term value and high leverage.

I don't take enough time for reflection, strategizing, and creative thinking.

I work in the evenings or on weekends, and I almost never take an e-mail-free vacation.

Spirit

I don't spend enough time at work doing what I do best and enjoy most.

There are significant gaps between what I say is most important to me in my life and how I actually allocate my time and energy.

My decisions at work are more often influenced by external demands than by a strong, clear sense of my own purpose.

I don't invest enough time and energy in making a positive difference to others or to the world.
